13	As a condo owner doing my own wiring, the application process was a little confusing. The multifamily application didn't allow to indicate the owner was going to do the work - only a contractor. It would be nice to have a box to check indicating the owner will be doing the work.	1/9/2018 7:22 AM

23	I think a consistent approach to code interpretation between code reviewers.	1/8/2018 4:49 PM

25	Regarding the eTRAKiT system, please include sections for "Completed Inspections" and "Completed Permits".	1/8/2018 4:20 PM
26	The move from personal "over the counter" assistance to much more online work is understandable, but certainly has a negative impact in some ways to the process. When a person is told, "you could do this online" it makes them feel that they are bothering the person they have asked to help. I understand that for contractors and such that do this all the time it works much better...but, you asked! I need to add that the front desk person (XXXX and others) has always done a great job.	1/8/2018 4:12 PM

13	Providing manufacturer's approval rather than a third party approval for special inspection is rare and hard to coordinate. Need provisions for special inspection for eifs on wood to be by third party inspector. EIFS, contrary to past performance in the 90's is now turned into a insulated superwall, so the drainable installation no longer has the moisture problems that initially existed.	1/8/2018 9:21 PM

1	Special thanks to XXXX, XXXX, and XXXX. Excellent, friendly service, all around.	3/26/2018 3:56 PM
2	This program was invented a few years back. What data is available proving necessity of a rental inspection program? What is the purpose of this program? It seems it goes way above renters safety and guarding renters against horrible landlords. Why not just focus on the renters that have a complaint or question their living situations rather than bother all landlords. I have done everything my tenants ask without hesitation. I don't need a government agent telling me. I see this program as a waste of money. What experience level do the people have that work in this program? Are they college educated? Do they need a certificate? Think about the ever increasing homeless population in Bellingham. They would love to stay in a home with a few minor issues. I'd much rather pay $100 and $25 for missed appointments to a program that actually helps people....take my money and do something worthwhile like building roofs for the homeless people.	3/21/2018 12:06 PM
3	Much more user friendly than past experiences. A we are here to help you verses to stop you is refreshing!	3/20/2018 9:47 PM
4	I am a limited income senior. This rental is the main source of my income. The fee is excessive for 15 min. inspection.	3/5/2018 4:57 PM
5	The fee is excessive for a 15 min. inspection. My neighbors live in a Lakeway Realty Property with 5 units. Very run down, deferred maintenance, etc. Tenants are living in poor conditions (leaks) so why don't the inspections work?	3/5/2018 4:55 PM

9	Big shout-out to XXXX. We had some questions about a neighbor's permit as we are planning our own project. She was incredibly helpful and went above and beyond to figure out what was going on (the neighbor's lot had accidentally been tagged with an address in a way that made those permits appear in our name, resulting in some confusion and chuckles).	1/31/2018 11:28 AM

11	Nothing at this time.	1/22/2018 9:49 AM
12	XXXX has been rude and not helpful at all to multiple employees and shows no patience to people learning the permit process. I hope I don't have to deal with her again! The rest of the staff that I have been in contact with has been very helpful and willing to help me learn. Bellingham's permit application processes one of the easier processes throughout Washington State I have got the pleasure to work with. Please keep that up!	1/11/2018 5:08 PM
13	I really appreciated the staff's ability to combine the need to have a safe and environmentally responsible building with a desire to help keep downtown alive and the realities of working on an older building. 18	My application was for a fairly unusual project and I appreciated how they took the time to understand it and to make suggestions about how the forms should be filled out.	1/8/2018 10:47 PM
19	We've received inconsistent information multiple times!! There appears to be only one person (XXXX) who seems to have way too much power/control which results in problematic bottleneck! We are still awaiting answer to questions from several months ago.	1/8/2018 10:26 PM
20	I feel like it's a crap shoot whether the permit will be approved or not. The notes we have received back have been detailed, but we wish we their could have been more examples beforehand, to save us all some time.	1/8/2018 10:22 PM

Understand that the vast majority of us are trying to do the right thing. We just want respectful and responsive help and we think that you lived up to that. Overall, a positive experience - other than the very high costs.	1/8/2018 9:15 PM
23	I am installing all low flow water faucets, sower, etc...there should be some consideration of this when determining what size water 5/8 vs 3/4. I'm just over the line in total fixtures....but they should be, I feel, weighted as are window efficiencies.	1/8/2018 8:56 PM
