Geneva Elementary - May 2, 2019

An informational open house regarding the process and effects of annexation was held at Geneva Elementary School May 2, 2019 from 6:00pm - 7:30pm. The open house was hosted by the University of Washington Annexation Research Initiative Team and supported by City of Bellingham and Whatcom County Staff. The event was intended to cover the area identified in Figure A1, and was attended by 46 Geneva area residents, 39 of which returned questionnaires. Event agenda, informational materials, and sample questionnaire are included herein, along with a summary of activity and questionnaire outcomes.

Notes:
Welcome Geneva!
The University of Washington (UW) Master of Urban Planning students are partnering with the City of Bellingham Planning to assess the interest of your area joining the City. We look forward to discussing this possibility with you today.

What is Annexation?
Annexation is the procedure for bringing unincorporated areas of a county into an adjacent incorporated city. An unincorporated area has yet to join a city or form a town or city of its own. The most common form of annexation is the “petition method”, whereby property owners (or residents) of the area sign a petition asking to become part of the city. If an area is annexed, the city becomes the primary provider of local government services.

Why is the city exploring annexing these areas?
The Growth Management Act of 1990 says that all areas defined as urban growth areas (UGAs) should be in a city. Whatcom County does not have the resources to support urban areas while the City of Bellingham does. Due to this, both the County and City agree that these areas should be part of the City of Bellingham to best serve the residents of the UGAs.

The average single family home owner will pay $83 less a year in taxes & fees.
Has annexation happened before in nearby areas? What changed afterward?

Yes, the most recent annexations were of Mt. Baker Highway/Britton Road and Bennett/Bakerview/Airport Drive in April 2019. The effects after annexation vary by community; however, the following have generally happened:

- Lower utility costs for City of Bellingham water and sewer services and extension of service to vacant properties (upon the submission of an application)
- Consideration for the City of Bellingham to improve public park spaces (trails, playfields, etc.) identified in the Parks, Recreation and Open Space (PRO) Plan
- Inclusion in City planning and budgeting for parks, infrastructure, and other neighborhood improvements
- Increased levels of service provided by the City of Bellingham police and fire departments
- The ability to vote in Bellingham elections along with representation on the Bellingham City Council
- Establishment of Neighborhood Associations officially recognized by the City of Bellingham and representation on the Mayor’s Neighborhood Advisory Commission (MNAC)
- Access to city and state funding for neighborhood development through programs such as Small and Simple Grants and Safe Routes to School

Why is the city exploring annexing these areas?
The Growth Management Act of 1990 says that all areas defined by urban growth should be in a city.
• Whatcom County does not have the resources to support urban areas while the City of Bellingham does
• Both the County and City agree that these areas should be part of the City of Bellingham to best serve the residents of the UGAs

What is an “unincorporated area”?
In the case of Bellingham, an unincorporated area is an area within and governed by Whatcom County that has yet to join a city or form a town or city of its own.

What is an “Urban Growth Area” (UGA)?
• Bellingham urban growth areas (UGAs) are unincorporated areas next to city limits identified by Whatcom County that are characterized by urban growth
• Establishment of UGAs is required by the Washington Growth Management Act of 1990 for the purpose of encouraging urban growth within existing urban areas
• Several UGAs have already experienced significant development are being considered for potential annexation by the City of Bellingham

What is the annexation process?
Washington State law guides the annexation process. Many methods exist, ranging from petition-based to agreements between government authorities.
• Bellingham has grown via annexation throughout its history, and this is a common process
The most used annexation method is the petition:
• The petition starts with interested residents submitting a Notice of Intent to Annex that represents either:
  • at least 10% of the residents of the area to be annexed, or
  • the owners of at least 10% of the land value in the area to be annexed
• If the City Council decides that the proposed annexation is good for the public, it may begin a public process to study the annexation proposal
• In this case, the supportive residents must use official petition forms to collect the signatures of property owners that represent at least 60% of the total assessed land value of the area requested for annexation
• At the end of the public process, the City Council votes for or against the annexation in question. There is no guarantee of annexation by filing a petition and application for annexation to the City
Tax & Fee Changes

How much will this cost me?

The average single family homeowner in Geneva will pay $83 less a year in taxes & fees.

Rental Property Owners
- Rental registration fees
- Per unit annual fee ranging $8 - $10 per unit
- Rental inspections and fees are required every 3 years

Business Owners
- City of Bellingham Business and Occupation Tax will apply to businesses with gross revenue more than $20,000 per year
- City of Bellingham sales tax rate of 2.2% will apply on top of the state rate of 6.5%

Questionnaire Outcomes

Attendees were encouraged to complete a questionnaire regarding their experience at the meeting and opinion related to annexation during the event. In the case of the Geneva Elementary meeting, 39 of 46 questionnaires were returned, the outcomes of which are provided below in Figures A2 through A5. This information was not evaluated as representative of overall community sentiment or statistically analyzed, as open house events were focused on sharing information with community members. Rather, attendee input was documented and used by the UW Team to inform follow-on assessment efforts.

Of the 39 people who responded to the Geneva meeting questionnaire, most reported that they felt engaged and at the meeting and the meeting improved their understanding of annexation. However, the majority of respondents indicate they do not support annexation.
An informational open house regarding the process and effects of annexation was held at Wade King Elementary School May 2, 2019 from 6:00pm - 7:30pm. The open house was hosted by the University of Washington Annexation Research Initiative Team and supported by City of Bellingham and Whatcom County Staff. The event was intended to cover the area identified in Figure A6, and was attended by 31 North Yew Street area residents, of which 24 returned questionnaires. Event agenda, informational materials, and sample questionnaire are included herein, along with a summary of activity and questionnaire outcomes.

Why is the city exploring annexing these areas?
The Growth Management Act of 1990 says that all areas defined by urban growth should be in a city.
• Whatcom County does not have the resources to support urban areas while the City of Bellingham does
• Both the County and City agree that these areas should be part of the City of Bellingham to best serve the residents of the UGAs

What is an “unincorporated area”?
In the case of Bellingham, an unincorporated area is an area within and governed by Whatcom County that has yet to join a city or form a town or city of its own.

What is an “Urban Growth Area” (UGA)?
• Bellingham urban growth areas (UGAs) are unincorporated areas next to city limits identified by Whatcom County that are characterized by urban growth
• Establishment of UGAs is required by the Washington Growth Management Act of 1990 for the purpose of encouraging urban growth within existing urban areas
• Several UGAs have already experienced significant development are being considered for potential annexation by the City of Bellingham

What is the annexation process?
Washington State law guides the annexation process. Many methods exist, ranging from petition-based to agreements between government authorities.
• Bellingham has grown via annexation throughout its history, and this is a common process
The most used annexation method is the petition:
• The petition starts with interested residents submitting a Notice of Intent to Annex that represents either:
  • at least 10% of the residents of the area to be annexed, or
  • the owners of at least 10% of the land value in the area to be annexed
• If the City Council decides that the proposed annexation is good for the public, it may begin a public process to study the annexation proposal
• In this case, the supportive residents must use official petition forms to collect the signatures of property owners that represent at least 60% of the total assessed land value of the area requested for annexation
• At the end of the public process, the City Council votes for or against the annexation in question. There is no guarantee of annexation by filing a petition and application for annexation to the City

City Services

How does annexation affect your neighborhood?

The Growth Management Act of 1990 says that all areas defined as urban growth areas (UGAs) should be in a city. Whatcom County does not have the resources to support urban areas while the City of Bellingham does. Due to this, both the County and City agree that these areas should be part of the City of Bellingham to best serve the residents of the UGAs.

Lower utility costs for City of Bellingham water and sewer services and extension of service to vacant properties (upon the submission of an application)

Consideration for the City of Bellingham to improve public park spaces (trails, playfields, etc.) identified in the Parks, Recreation and Open Space (PRO) Plan

Inclusion in City planning and budgeting for parks, infrastructure, and other neighborhood improvements

Increased levels of service provided by the City of Bellingham police and fire departments

The ability to vote in the City of Bellingham elections along with representation on the Bellingham City Council

Establishment of Neighborhood Associations officially recognized by the City of Bellingham and representation on the Mayor’s Neighborhood Advisory Commission

Depending on the UGA you are located in, there will be varying potential increased in stormwater fees and reduced property taxes and water bills.

Questionnaire Outcomes

Attendees were encouraged to complete a questionnaire regarding their experience at the meeting and opinion related to annexation during the event. In the case of the Northern Heights Elementary meeting, 51 of 51 questionnaires were returned, the outcomes of which are provided below by neighborhood (Northern heights/Hillsdale/Tweed Twenty) in Figures A9 through A20. This information was not evaluated as representative of overall community sentiment or statistically analyzed, as open house events were focused on sharing information with community members. Rather, attendee input was documented and used by the UW Team to inform follow-on assessment efforts.
Northern Heights

Of the 51 total respondents, 31 reported they were from the Northern Heights area. Of these, most people reported they felt very engaged and nearly all respondents felt the meeting improved their understanding of annexation. Attendee responses in this area were largely supportive of annexation.
Hillsdale

Nine attendees reported they were from the Hillsdale area. Of these, most people reported they felt very engaged and nearly all respondents felt the meeting improved their understanding of annexation. Respondent support for annexation in this area was generally split at the time of the questionnaire.
Tweed Twenty

Nine attendees reported they were from the Tweed Twenty area. Of these, most people reported they felt engaged, and all respondents felt the meeting improved their understanding of annexation. Respondent support for annexation in this area was approximately split at the time of the questionnaire.
